Home Bound
I remember back to the summer before '86
You had all the moves you knew all the tricks.

When your voice took wing
oh how you'd sing
Just an old Edmond boy with a big nugget ring.

A country boy's prayer
A city girl's dream.

But it's all right now
keep on singing loud
It's all right now
heaven should be proud.

The 70's left town
on a crowded dance floor
The 80's came in with a bang and a roar
The world heard a knock it was Tommy at the door.

When it seemed like the world was falling apart
The house lights would fall and the music would start
He had been back giving us a piece of his heart.

But it's all right now
keep on singing loud
It's all right now
heaven should be proud.
It was a sunny day
in a crowded little town
We heard that the three birds had fallen to the ground
We all said a prayer
before we went down.

Tommy my buddy
above all the rest
I miss you the most
I love you the best
Now that you're gone
I thank God I was left

But it's all right now
keep on singing loud
It's all right now
heaven should be proud.

Our Time

Throughout history there has been a time for every culture, society, and group, no matter how small. The Greeks, the Romans, the Egyptians all have had their space in eternity. This is our time.

Our time is affected by the events and happenings going on in our world today. In turn, the events and happenings occurring in our world today take place because we had our little influence in deciding how fads and issues were received. Our world is changing us and we are changing our world.

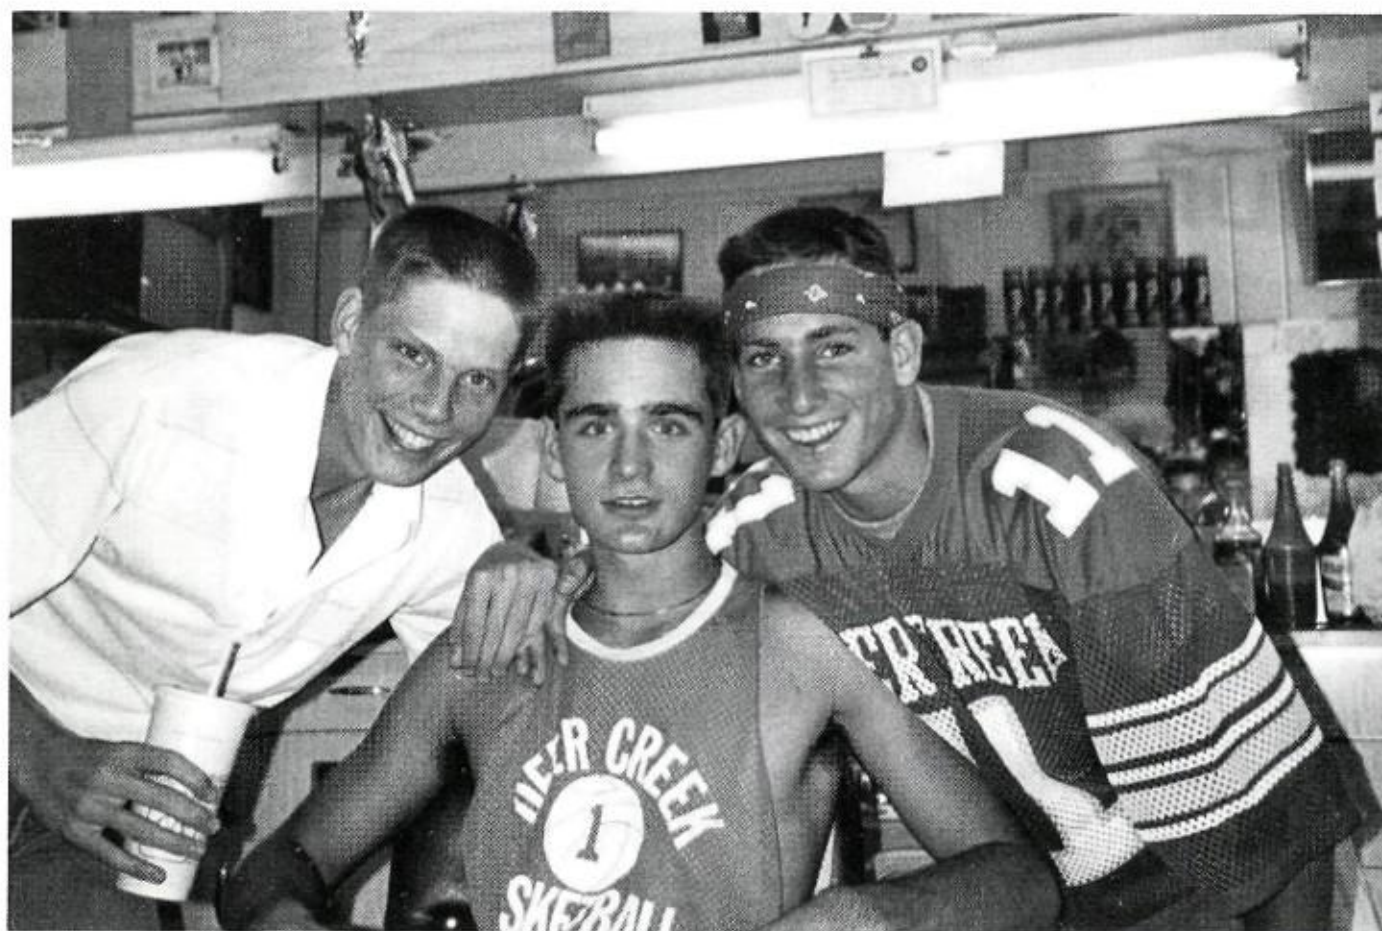

We mark time with the passing of momentous events in our lives. Something will occur, whether it be a national tragedy, a spectacular break-through, or a joyous occasion, that will make a small scratch on our brains, freezing forever that meaningful moment in time.

The way we dress, the way we act, the way we pass the time all come together to define "Our Time." No matter what has happened before or what becomes in the future, we have made our mark on the world. Our time will pass, as did the time for the Romans and the Greeks, but our influences on the world will remain suspended in eternity. When the present becomes the past, it will be remembered because it was a special time. It was Our Time.

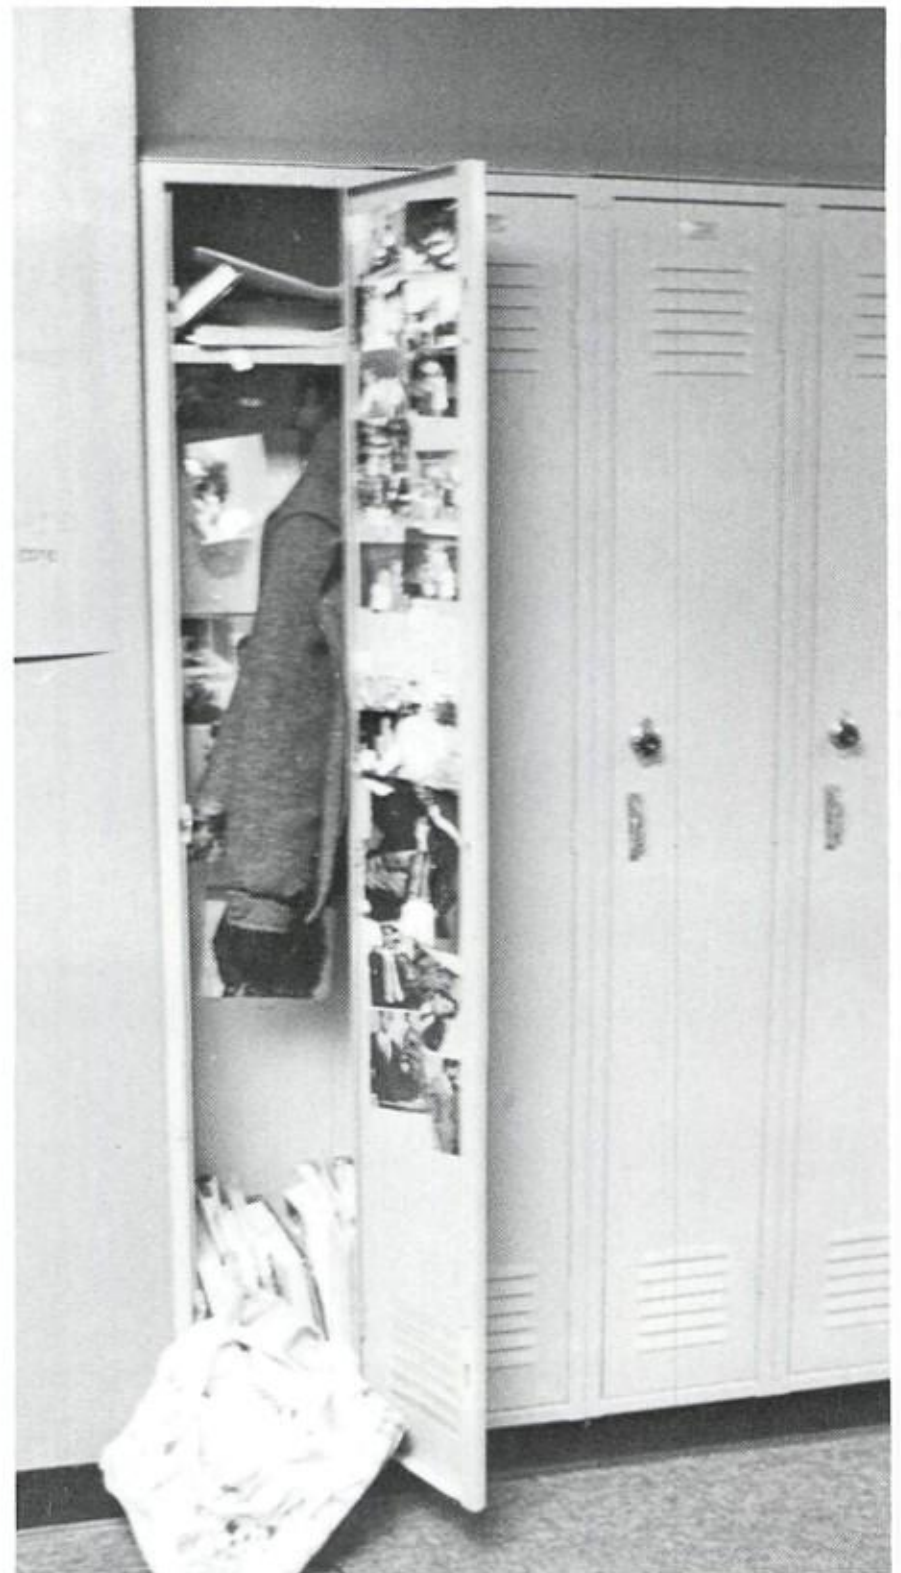

A pep rally was held in honor of the boys' and girls' basketball teams who both made it to the state playoffs.

Steve Tomlin, Chad Sandvig, and Keith Liles set a trend with their new haircuts.

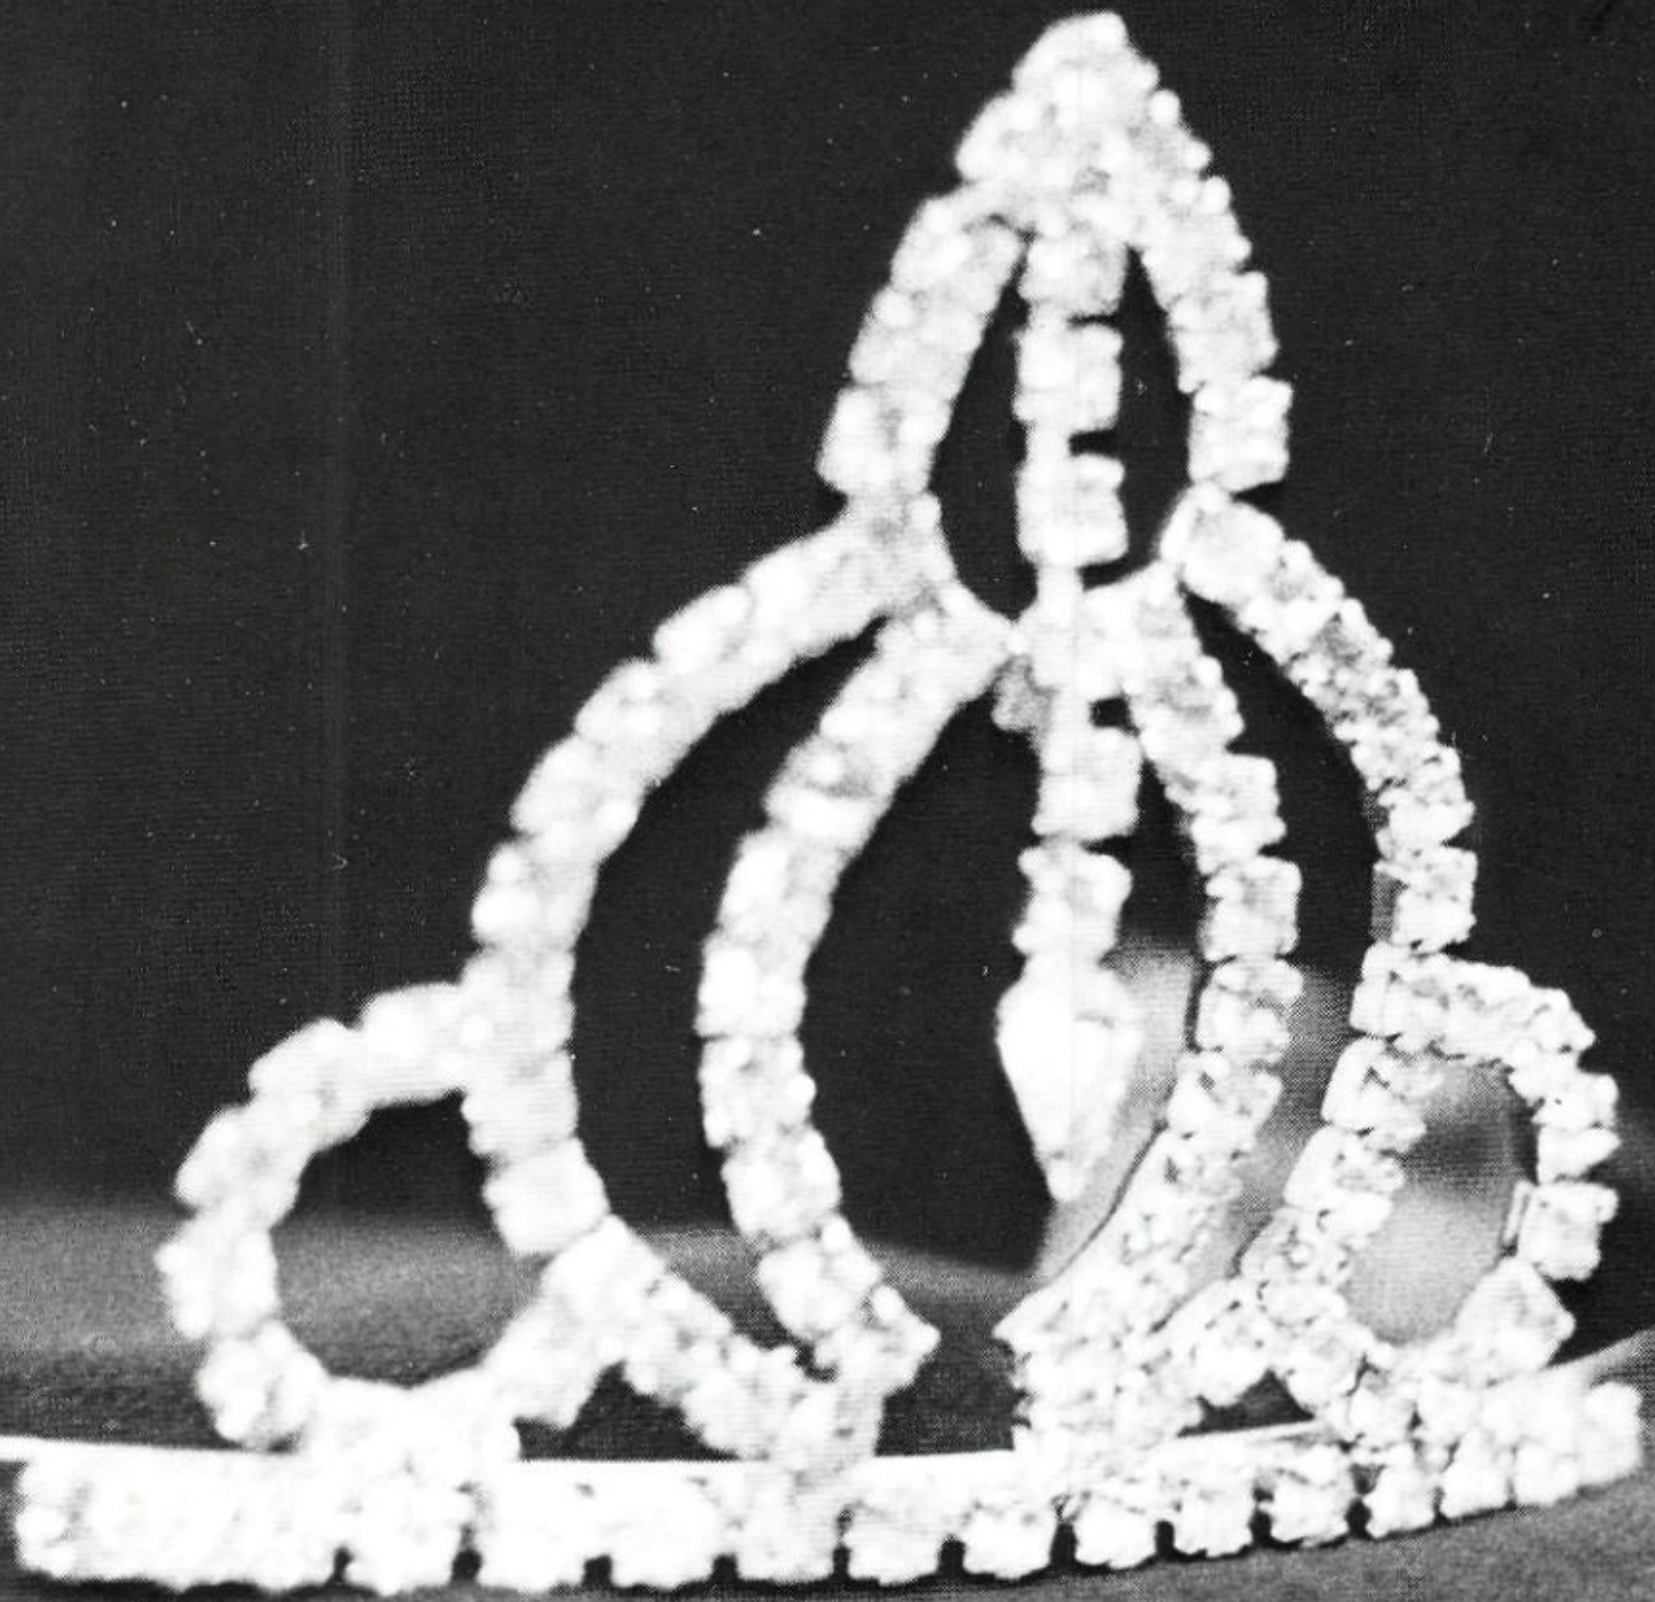

Twice during the 1985-1986 school year, the flag flew at half staff — once at the death of Tommy Benedict and once in memory of the Space Shuttle astronauts.

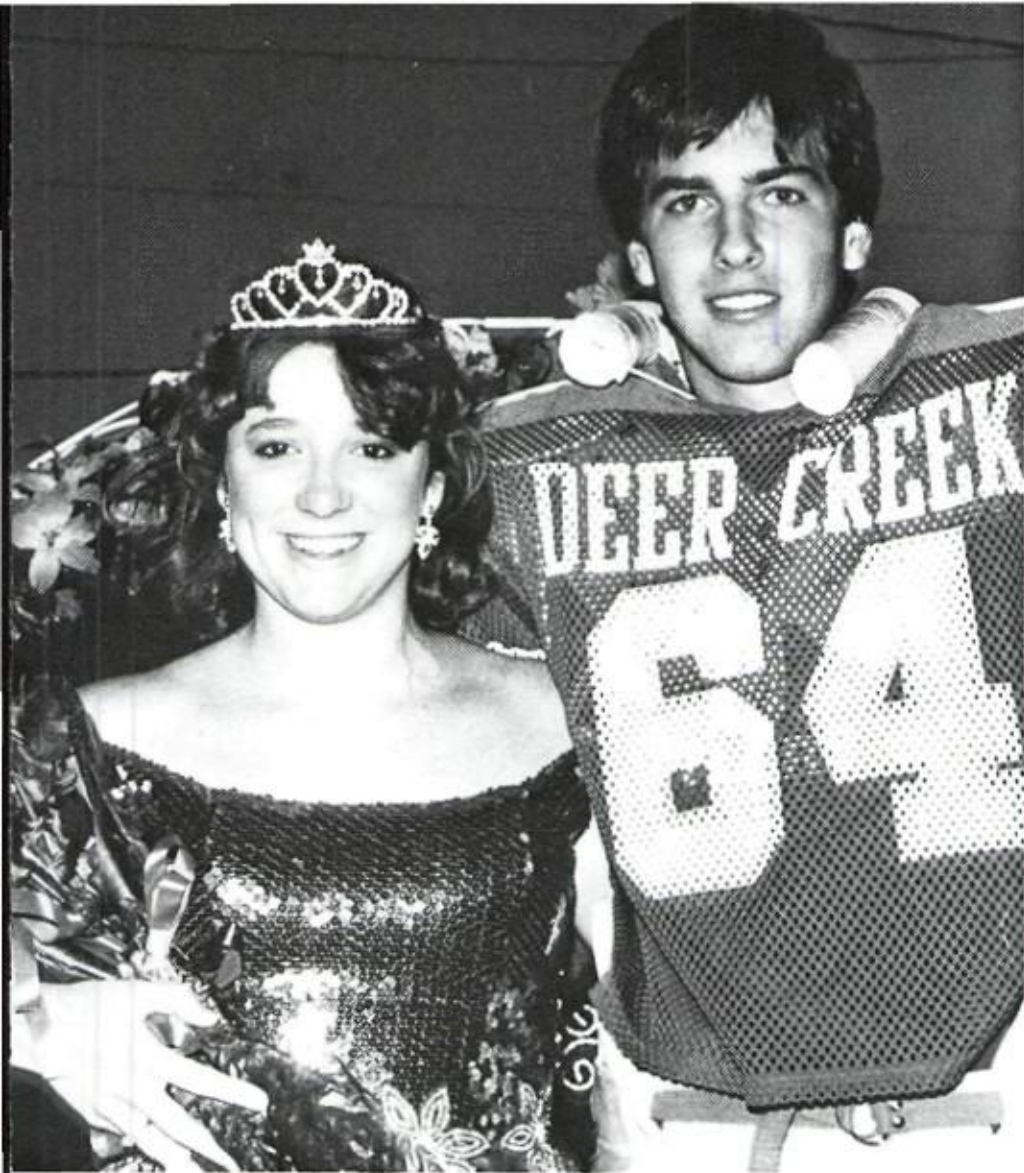

The way students chose to decorate their lockers was one means of expression.

The Pegs, a new brand of male cheerleader, entertain at a pep rally.

Football Homecoming

Waxed and waiting, the Corvettes idled as last minute preparations continued to surface. Arriving early, the expectant crowd searched the field and grounds for a glimpse of his or her favorite. Seizing the electricity in the air, the football team bided its time in the locker room. Poised and preened, in their brilliantly colored gowns, the queen candidates arrived on the arms of their escorts, anxiously awaiting the beginning of the Deer Creek homecoming ceremonies before the game against Crescent at 7:00 PM on October 4, 1985.

A Tradition Continues

Tradition is a big part of the average Deer Creek student's life. The annual fall carnival and crowning of the carnival king and queen have become one of these traditions. From the first day of school, plans are made to ensure that this year's carnival will be bigger and more spectacular than the one the year before. All of these efforts then come together to make a magic that will bring fond memories to many people for years to come. The 85-86 fall carnival brought food, fun, and good company to the numerous participants who braved the rainy weather. The evening was topped off with the crowning of the carnival queen and king, Dana Bradford and Tim Lindsey.

Seniors Dana Bradford and Tim Lindsey were chosen to reign as king and queen of this year's fall carnival.

Matthew Holloman and Emily Burrell (above) enjoyed dressing up like the "big kids" to be the crown-bearer and flower girl.

Newcomers to the high school, Chris Whipple and Angie James were chosen as freshman candidates. (top left)

Senior's Seem Satisfied

The year of 1986 will be remembered in the Seniors' eyes as the year they graduated from high school. All of the long hard years of growing were behind them; however, the struggle of adulthood has just begun. It had been a long difficult road but in the end it was all worth it.

Chad Sandvig (right) thinks he is king of the mountain in Mrs. Jordan's English class.

By the expression on these seniors' faces, they look as if they are overjoyed to be graduating.

Dean Taylor (right) seems to be at a loss of words in Jordan's class.

Dana Bradford and Micheline LaVene (up) want to see what school's like down under.

Wittiest

"Don't play leap frog with a unicorn," commented Steve Tomlin. Steve has attended Deer Creek for seven years. Steve's future plans are to "order a pizza." Along with diving for pearls, yachting on the open sea, he enjoys big game hunting. Steve is the son of Douglas and Wanda Tomlin.

"We better not get too attached to the pyramids because the people who built them might come back and take them," stated Molly Bose. Molly has attended Deer Creek for ten years. Molly plans to move to Nottingham England where she will live in a cheap little flat writing until she either gets recognized or goes insane. However, in the future she'll be found at O.S.U. Molly is the daughter of Nelson and Bunny Bose.

Seniors Enjoy New Privileges

The Student Council initiated the plan for a modified open campus. The class of '86 had the opportunity to go to Brandenberger's for lunch. Students could enjoy anything from candy bars to old fashioned hamburgers. One of the additional pleasures, of course, was the freedom to socialize with fellow classmates away from the high school.

Best Dressed

"Everything that goes up must come down," states Sherri Horton. This is Sherri's first year at Deer Creek. She plans on attending O.S.U. and majoring in fashion merchandising. Sherri enjoys ballet, tennis, waterskiing, and working as a lifeguard. Sherri is the daughter of Gary and Mary Horton.

"It does not matter whether you win or lose, it's how you look when you do it," says Stony Maness. Stony has attended Deer Creek for two years. Stony plans on attending S.M.U. and later entering an engineering field. Stony spends most of his free time playing tennis, practicing archery, and listening to classical music. Stony is the son of Stony and Jan Maness.

Most Athletic

"You can't have everything, where would you put it all!" stated Trent Sanders. Trent has gone to Deer Creek for three years. Trent plans to attend OU and get a master's degree in electrical engineering, then become "WEALTHY." Trent enjoys water skiing, back packing, athletics, Darolyn, snow skiing, and his collection of hats. Trent is the son of Charles and Millie Sanders.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," says Cheryl Briscoe. Cheryl has attended Deer Creek for thirteen years. Cheryl enjoys basketball, water and snow skiing, art, riding horses, and boys. After graduation Cheryl plans to attend CSU and play ball. Cheryl is the daughter of Bert and Judy Briscoe.

Most Likely To Succeed

"If everything is going well, you obviously don't know what is going on," states Joe Conger. Joe has attended Deer Creek for nine years. Joe enjoys water and snow skiing, fishing, reading and hanging out with the guys. After graduation Joe plans to attend college at Amherst, Pomone, or Bates. Joe is the son of Clyde and Annette Conger.

"Don't dream it; be it," says Marnie Wilkie. Marnie has attended Deer Creek for three years. Marnie spends most of her free time traveling and dancing. Marnie plans to attend OSU where she will major in business, start her own business and become a "MILLIONAIRE." Marnie is the daughter of Joe and Dorothy Wilkie.

Ms. And Miss DCHS

Unlike some awards that recognize outstanding performance in one field, the title of Mr. and Miss DCHS is reserved for the one senior boy and the one senior girl who is the most outstanding in many areas. This year Trent Sanders and Johnna Hundley are Mr. and Miss DCHS.

Trent has a lengthy list of achievements to his name. He represented Deer Creek at Boys State in 1985, was class president both his junior and senior years, was vice-president of the National Honor Society, and was a member of both the Science Club and FBLA. His participation in varsity football and track aided him in being voted "Most Athletic" in the senior class.

Johnna Hundley has also had her share of recognition. She was selected to attend Girls State in 1985 and participated in the Junior Rotarian Program. The Daughters of the American Revolution organization acknowledged her outstanding citizenship with their citizenship award. Johnna has been a cheerleader for four years and was voted "Most Popular."

ACTIVITIES

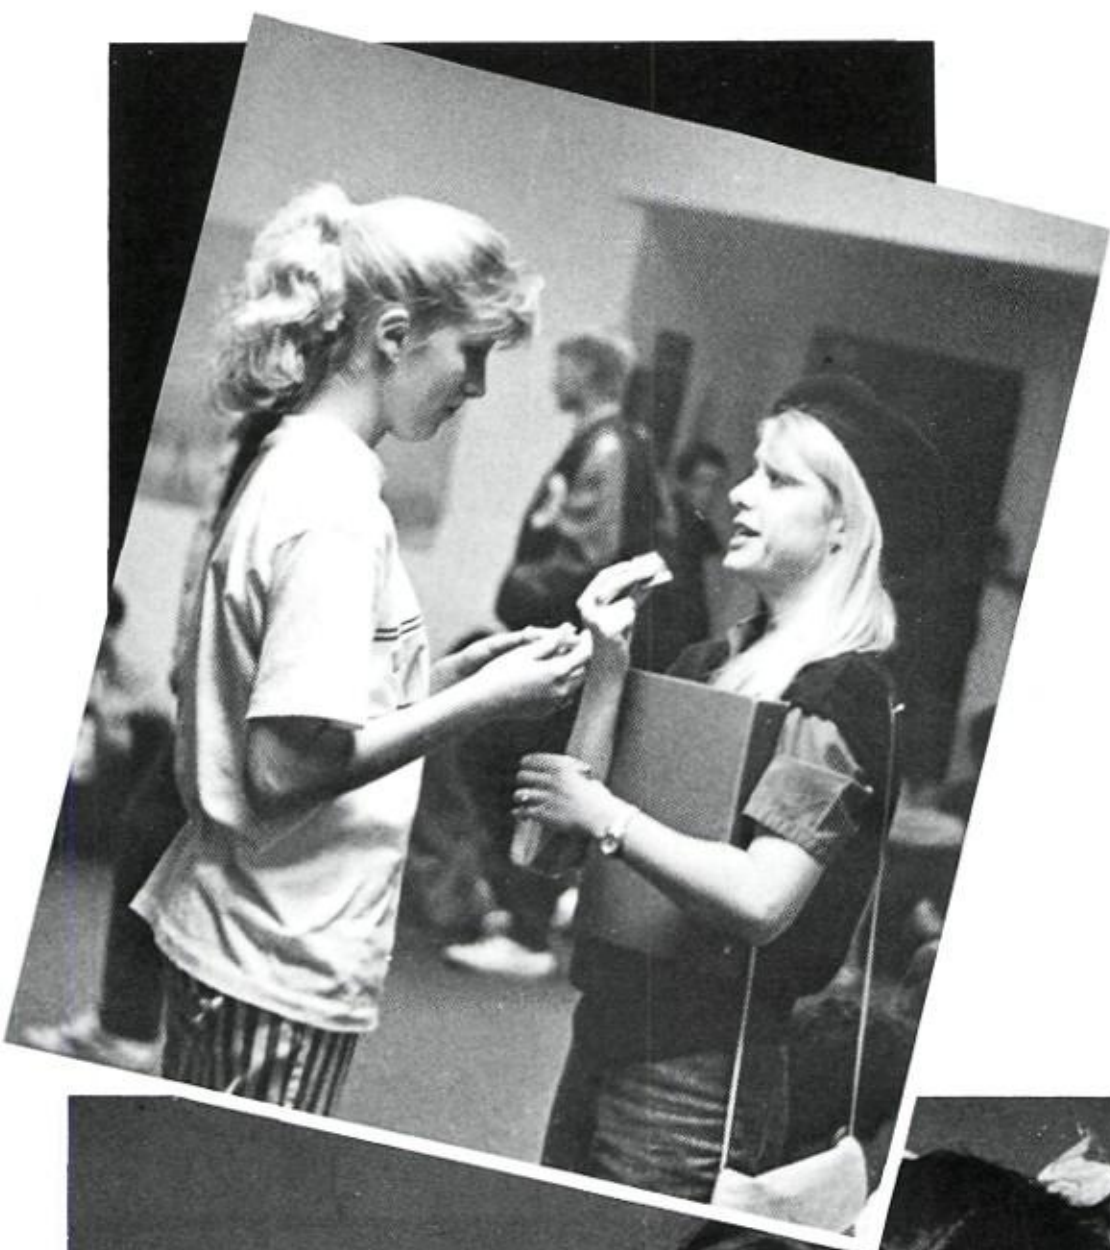

Student Life

Students Have The Time Of Their Lives

Deer Creek students spent their free time away from class involved in many activities. Many students involved themselves in the many clubs and organizations at the high school while others choose to spend their time outside the school.

Extra-curricular activities of students involved many different aspects. Because Deer Creek is a rural community, horseback riding and showing horses was popular among many. Religious activities were not dismissed, either. Oklahoma City is part of the nation's Bible Belt.

Students spent their weekends in various activities. Edmond's Broadway Street was a popular place to be on Friday and Saturday nights, as well as 39th Street in Oklahoma City. Night spots for teenagers popped up in several places in the city: BP's, Jammers, Cactus Jacks, and the Bridge.

Lee Jacobs and Leslie Yates, juniors, chat with each other in the halls during lunch.

Slave Sale Sparks Enthusiasm

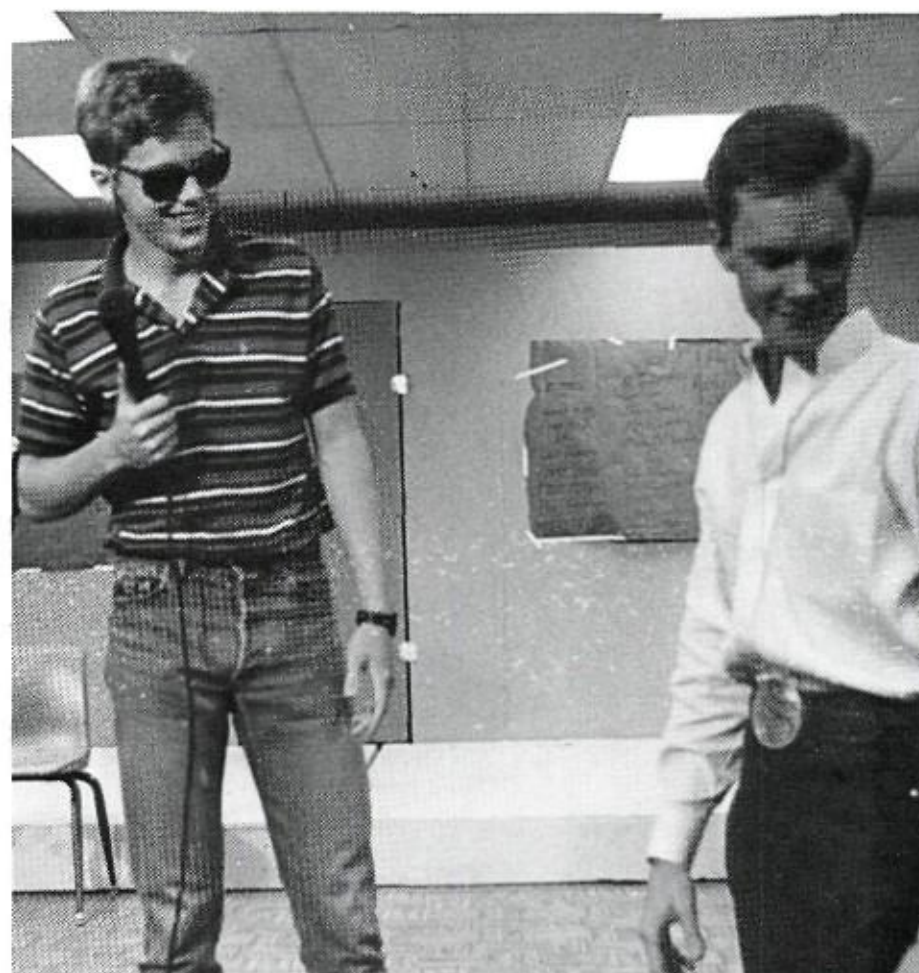

On Tuesday April 8, 1986 the Speech department sponsored the Slave Sale. Many male students participated in this event. The auctioneer was Tim Lindsey. The bid spotters were Leslie Baker and Gena Messick. The Speech department raised $1,300 for tournament fees and costs. Some slaves took their shirts off and flexed their muscles to raise their prices. After the slave was sold he was the slave of his buyer until midnight.

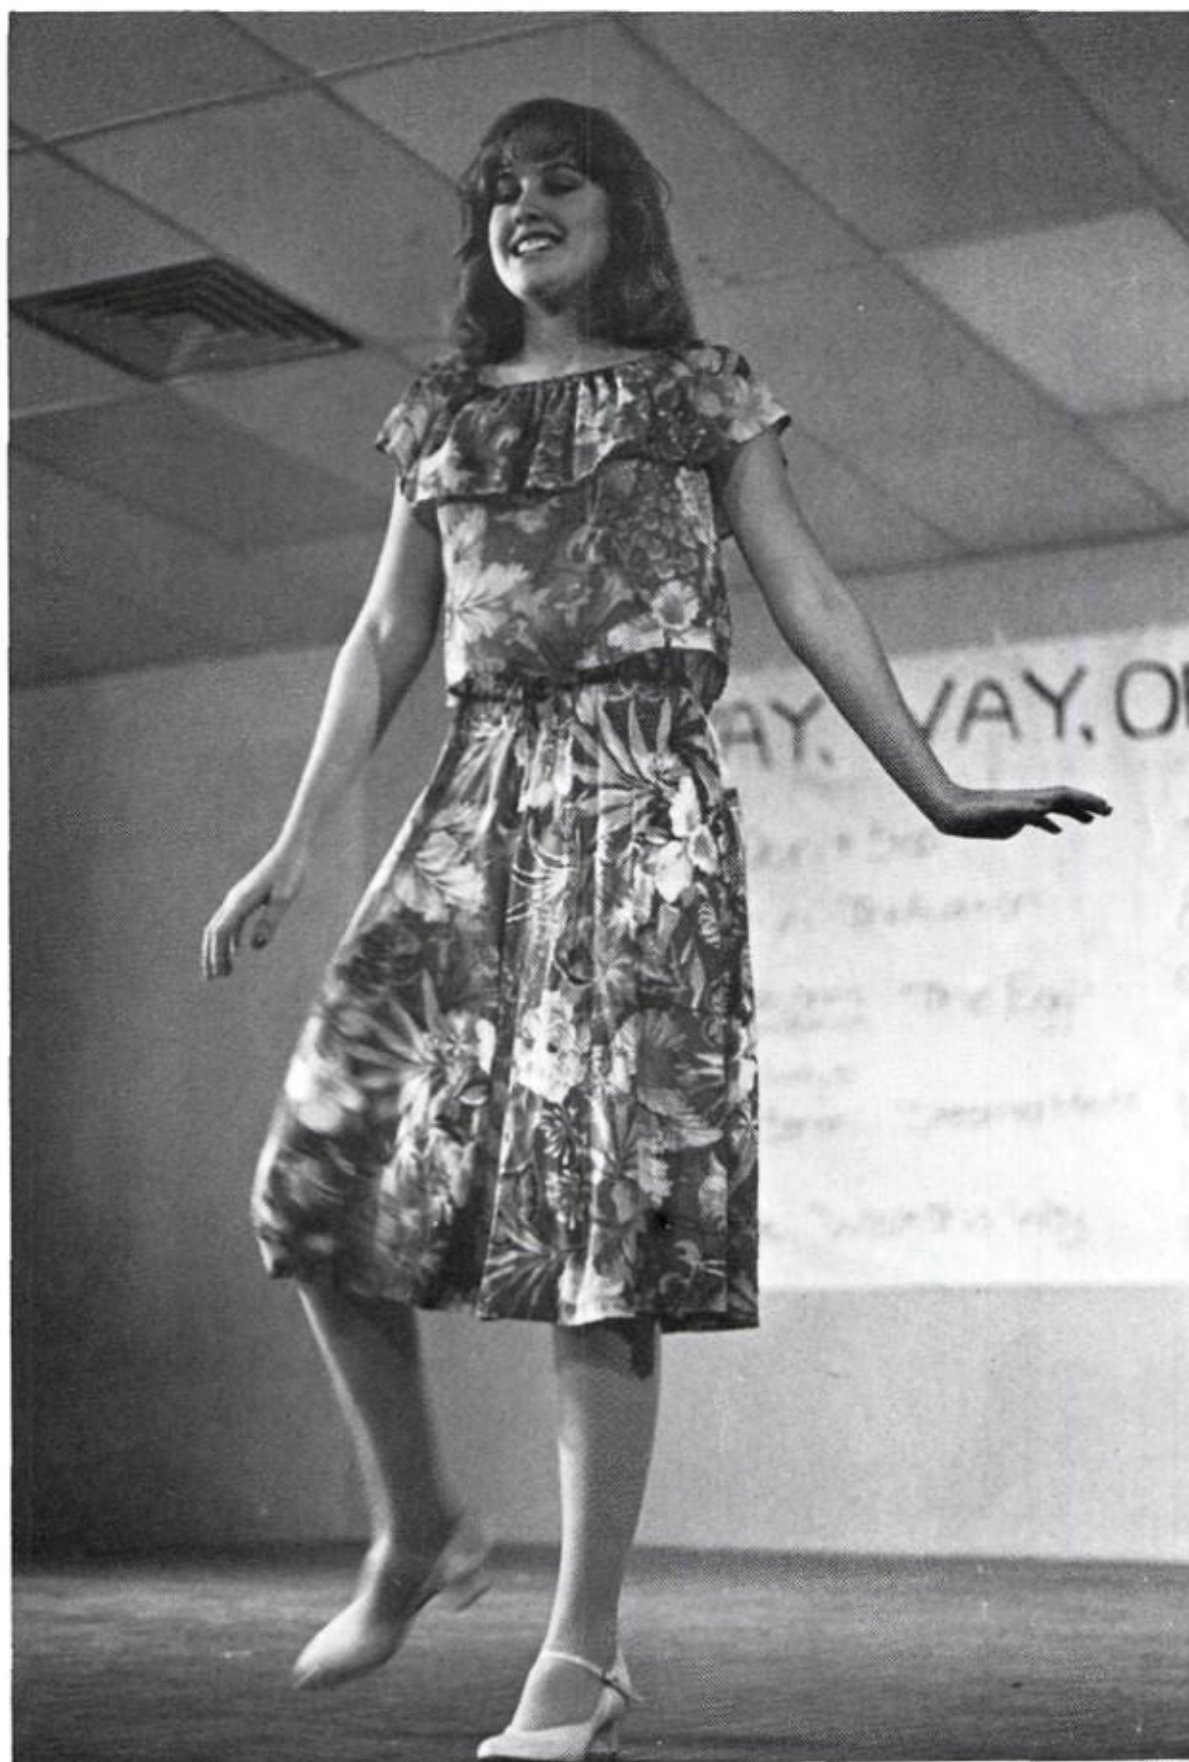

Leslie Baker and Gena Messick try to up the ante on Travis Bradenburger.

The slaves wait to see who they will be with until midnight.

Scott Burrell steals the microphone away from Tim Lindsey, so he can auction himself to a bidder.

Talent Show Reveals Stars

The Annual Deer Creek High School Talent Show, sponsored by the Speech Class, was held in December. Many students participated in displaying their talents. Some of these talents were singing, dancing, and a play was preformed by the Speech I Class.

Leigh Hardy, sophomore, does a tap dance from the play, 42 Street.

Emcees of the Talent Show, John Conley, Christine Stegmann, and Tim Lindsey, watch the talent performed by the students at Deer Creek.

Students Mimic Rock Stars

The Lip Sync Contest, sponsored by the Art Club, gave the participants a chance to emulate their favorite rock stars. Various performers who were represented in the contest were Lionel Richie, Madonna, Joe Walsh and the Eagles, the Blues Brothers, Pink Floyd, and Night Ranger. Participants were judged on originality, appearance, and lip sync. Winners of the lip sync contest were the group Boys Will Cry If You Slap Them Hard Enough. They performed to the song "I Want to Be a Cowboy." Using their own style of dress and rhythm, the group gained 29 points out of a possible 30. The first place prize received a trophy. Portraying the Blues Brothers, Scott Lacina, Luke Nigliazzo, and Trent Sanders placed second.

Chris Hurley, Brent Epely, Mike Rogers and Lance Phillips won first place for their rendition of "I wantta be a Cowboy!"

Luke Nigliazzo and Scott Lacina were the "Blues Brothers" after "Boys will cry if you slap them hard enough" performed.

Picnic Is Summer Fun

Picnic is the story of the restlessness of a small town family. Set in the heat of the end of summer, the viewer can feel the oppression of the participants. The story revolves around a beautiful young girl, Maggie, whose main decision was to find what she wanted in life. Her mother wanted her to marry the son of the richest family in the town, Alan. Maggie is sure of the impending marriage until she meets Hal. Hal is a wandering spirit who travels from place to place until he is no longer wanted. The play ends with Maggie leaving town to search for Hal. Those who performed in the play were Christine Stegmann, Dana Bradford, Julie Benson, Gena Messick, Monte Turrentine, Luke Nigliazzo, Scot Hundley, Kevin Griffin, Kathryn Nigliazzo, Lee Jacobs, and Stacy James.

Helen Potts (Julie Benson) explains to her neighbors about the handsome boy working for her.

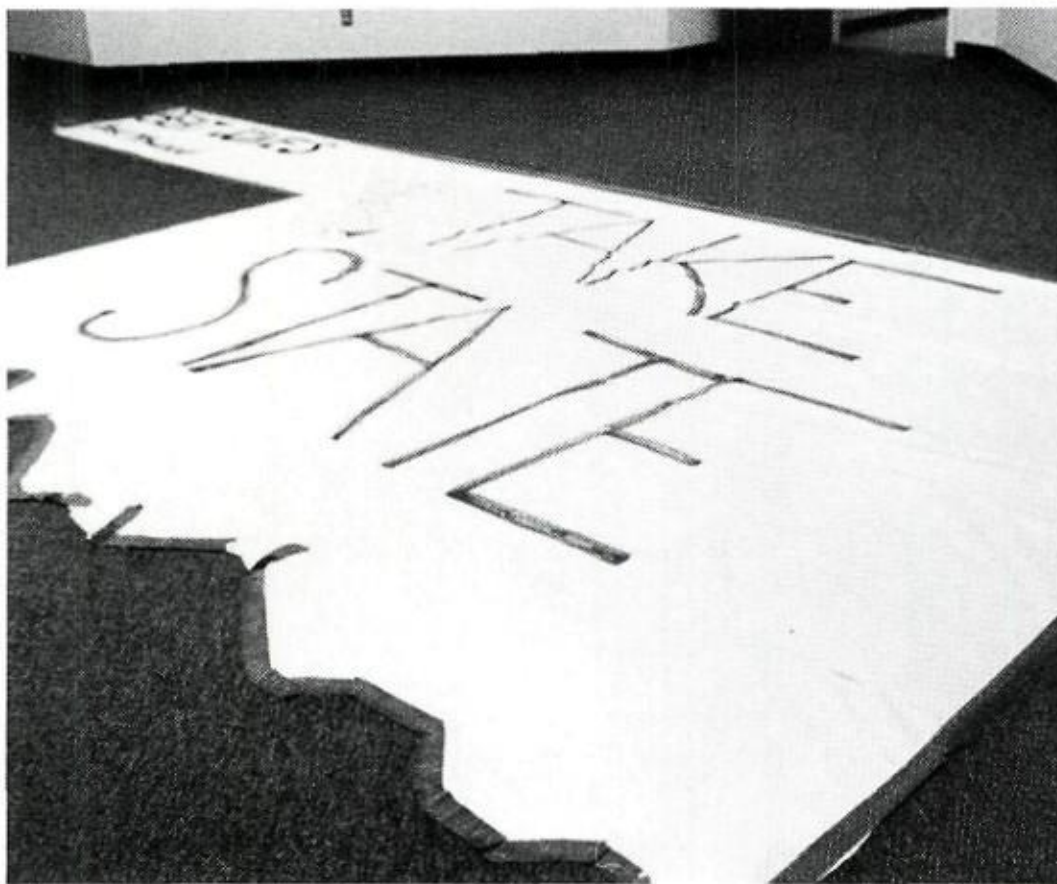

Allan (Monte Turrentine) listens as Hal (Luke Nigliazzo) tells of his adventures after college.

Maggie (Christine Stegmann) is grilled by her mother (Dana Bradford) about her date.

Our Time To Cheer

Because of a low rating on the referee's list of school's sportsmanship, many parents and the faculty believed Deer Creek students lacked school spirit. But, this was not the case. Students found ingenious ways to channel their energy, sometimes resulting in questionable behavior. But as the year rolled on, students developed their own sense of spirit. Walking down the halls of the high school during Spirit Week, one could see Deer Creek's spirit as many used the opportunity to dress wierdly. Football, basketball, and baseball games as well as wrestling matches proved excellent outlets to let students show their pride in being a part of Deer Creek High School. Students gave spirit and support to those who competed on Deer Creek's various athletic teams by attending almost every game. Antler's spirit and pride shone when Matt McCullough became state champion in the heavy weight division of wrestling; when the boy's and girl's teams advanced to the state basketball playoffs, when the FBLA team took 2nd and 3rd place trophies in the competition held at Enterprise Square USA; when thirteen competitive speech students advanced to the state speech tournament held at CSU; not to mention the individual awards and scholarships won by many students. Spirit is not only the support of athletic teams, but pride in the school and wanting to accomplish something representing the school. An example of this is when Cornel Grantham, a junior cheerleader, wrote a letter to the editor of the Edmond Evening Sun asking for sommunity support for the Deer Creek School System.

Displayed in the front hall is the "Take State" banner dedicated to the basketball players. The Deer Creek boys team made its first appearance at the state tournament since 1982 and the girls first since 1966. (above).

Alice In Wonderland Comes To Life In Make- Believe Magic

Starring Leslie Yates as Alice, Alice in Wonderland was Stage Productions first musical of the year. Alice in Wonderland gave the actors a chance to use their imaginations. The play does not deal with the real, but the fantasies of a young girl's mind. The audience follows Alice as she meets the White Rabbit (John Berry) who lost his invitation to a croquette game given by the Queen of Hearts (Cindy Lubbers). Alice falls through the closet to Wonderland where she bumps into the zany characters of the land. Her stay in Wonderland almost ends abruptly when she wins a game of croquette over the jealous Queen of Hearts. But, Alice's one friend in the enchanting land, the Cheshire Cat (Kathryn Nigliazzo) helps her to find her way back to her room and safety.

Dinah, the trusted confidante of Alice, listens to her experiences in Wonderland (above).

In preparation of the big event, Lee Jacobs applies whiteface to enhance her character of Ten of Clubs (above right).

Everyone Loves Love

Stage Productions Presents I♥Luv

"Love is kind, it is cruel, it is tender, it is painful, it is real, it is fantasy, but most of all, it is exciting!" so said John Conley who emceed Stage Productions first performance of the year, I♥Luv. I♥Luv was a series of short scenes, cuttings from plays, songs, and poems based on love. The play opened with a group of girls dancing to the song "One" from the play A Chorus Line.

The first stage of love is the encounter. After the encounter is the relationship. Mike Witten and Tracie Tarwater portrayed a romantic relationship in Romeo and Juliet.

But not all relationships are as romantic as this one and hit it off as easily. Gena Messick sang "Don't Rain on My Parade" from the play Funny Girl.

Marriage comes after the relationship has fully developed. Also comes the opportunity to get to know ones life-long mate.

Falling in love with images can deceive ones mind. Two short song scenes, "Leader of the Pack" and "Do Wah Diddy", were seen next. Next, I♥Luv dealt with the forces that cause the break-up of relationships. One emotion dealt with was jealousy. Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolfe by Edward Albee depicted a scene about a couple on the brink of divorce. Three boys reminiscenced on a broken relationship reciting a poem. The parent-child relationship is a different aspect of love. To conclude the play, Michele Herring danced to "Forever" in John Berry's arms.

Othello (J. K. Allred) accuses Desdemona (Christine Stegmann) of being unfaithful (opposite page).

Excitement In The Air

Student Relax At Carnival

Dimming lights, bustling activity, all is being prepared for the annual all-school carnival. Due to heavy rains, the carnival was delayed a week, and shortened in length again because of the rains. The carnival's purpose is to help raise needed funds for the different clubs and activities at Deer Creek. Each club sponsored its own booth. Speech club hosted the ever-popular Rent-a-Pest. The junior class sponsored a cakewalk. The senior class held a coke toss while the sophomores sold cotton candy.

Students went from booth to booth winning prizes and contributing money to the different clubs. The evening ended with the crowning of the annual carnival king and queen.

Enjoying the sights and activities of the carnival are juniors, J. K. Allred and Joe Rosnaelli (above).

Flight 51-L
by Frank Patterson

Golden swords
cut the heavens
A silhouetted figure stands alone in the morn

A giant stallion
the untame to fly
to the unknown
Oatbags protrude
The presage of the morn:
calm

-There is a light at the end of the tunnel-

Delays, complications, } forgotten
Seven riders mount four veterans coach three novices

-A cloud appears on the horizon-

Spurs imbed in horse flesh
With a roar it bolts,
perfectly across the field

Six and one sit in the smooth saddle

-Once again, apply spurs-

The wild untamed beast screams, spits, and tears a dusty path in the field

The riders are thrown trampled
drown in a sea of horror

Burned by the tongue of an evil old man or
Strangled in the hands of a cruel widow

A sea of blood
Blood of seven blood of all

Tears add to the sea
a true witch's brew

-The passing trembled in them, and a sough of loss-

Today, Yesterday, Tomorrow

Events That Shaped The Nation

Events shape the world in which we live. They can be sad or happy, causing peace or war. Events result in history. During the year many events, that had an effect not just on the nation but also the community, occurred that shaped the nation and touched the lives of each person.

In the fall, President Ronald Reagan and Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev met in Geneva, Switzerland to discuss peace-keeping methods between the two rival countries. The United States and the Soviet Union have been involved in conflicting opinions since the end of World War Two.

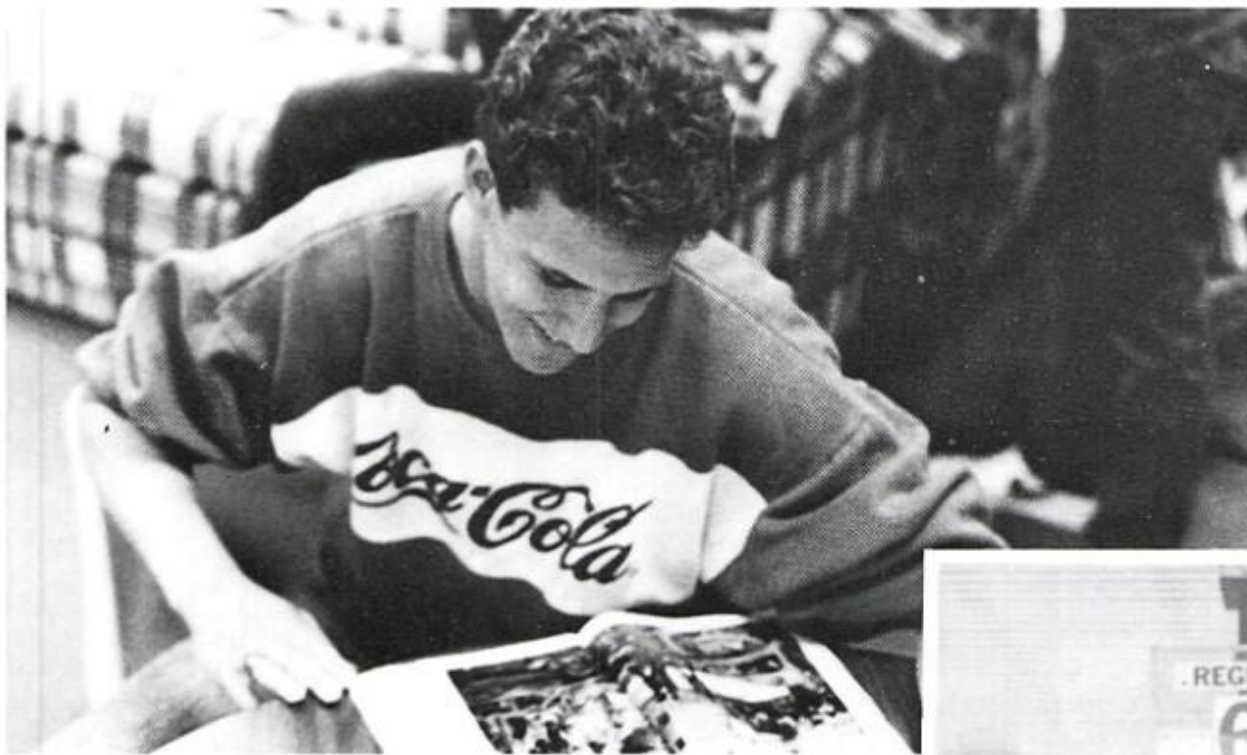

Also effecting the nation was the sudden plunge of oil prices causing gasoline prices to drop to their lowest in years.

Conflicts remained strong in the Mid-East and Africa with Libya being the United States main irritation. To resolve problems, the U.S. exhibited it's power by bombing Tripoli on April 14, 1986. The death of many Libyan civilians and the loss of Moamar Khadafi's infant daughter resulted. Problems existed also in the Phillipines as the rulers of that country were found to be wealthy among a country of the poor. Evidence found pointed to the fact that Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos owned much real estate in the U.S. as well as having currency in banks in Switzerland.

As always advancements in space occurred. But disaster struck as Americans watched in horror when the Space Shuttle Flight 51-L exploded while in orbit. The death of seven crew members, including Christa McAuliffe, who was the Teacher-in-Space participant resulted. Thousands shared the grief of the families of the seven crew members by sending cards, gifts, and monetary donations. On a happier note, many people viewed the Halley's comet which can only be seen from the earth every 75 years. The comet could be seen in the early morning hours of March and April.

The events that occurred in the school year of 1985-86 affected each individual in different ways. Not only do events make history, but they also prepare and give us a knowledge of the future, they compose the nostalgia from which in the future years we pluck the memory of "Our Time."

Gasoline prices dropped dramatically in the first few months of the year due to rising competition among foreign exporters and the nation's own oil producers (right).

Time For Work . . .

Time For Play

Doug Morton and Mike Milligan rake the trash from their lockers on the last day of school.

Term papers consumed many hours of the day for hard working seniors.

Time For Everlasting . . .

The Juniors spent the year prior to the prom raising money for the annual Junior/Senior prom. On the way to class every morning one could grab a quick doughnut provided by the junior class. The juniors diligently organized and sold a cookbook. All the proceeds went towards the prom.

They had to scout numerous places to hold the event. The Waterford was the chosen place. The planning began, but weeks before the prom was to be held, the Waterford broke the contract. The junior class officers frantically searched for a banquet room to rent. Finally they found the Park Suite. The Juniors then began writing the memorable prophecies. The guys nervously telephoned the girls of their choice, to ask to the prom. The girls swarmed to the mall to find the perfect dress.

Memories

Both the guys and the girls hoped that this would be the perfect night to remember.

For the seniors the prom served as the last chance to get together as a group for a purely social event. They all wanted it to be perfect. They all also wanted to leave their mark for which they would be remembered. They wrote a will to let the Juniors know how they felt. The girls spent weeks having a dress made. It was the last chance to show everyone how beautiful they were.

This time the prom was a more relaxed occasion. The seniors just had to sit back and watch it happen. They didn't have to raise money, organize, or decorate.

Dedication Pays Off

Deer Creek's Awards Assembly was held on May 13, 1986 in the Fine Arts Building. Students were awarded accordingly for their academic endeavors. Community leaders were invited to the awards assembly to present their own awards and scholarships. Teachers gave one outstanding student award for each different class that they teach. Type of awards given were recognitions for leadership and seminars attended as well as recognition for awards won during the year. Also presented at the assembly were medals won by the students who took tests at the OU Engineering Science Fair and the CSU Academic testing. Joe Conger, Shawn Stacy, and Dina Musgrave were announced as the Senior class valedictorians. Receiving their Deer Creek High School Outstanding Student award was Joe Conger.

“Sweet Charity” Is Spring Musical

“Sweet Charity” is the story of a woman’s search for a true love. Charity Hope Valentine, played by Dana Bradford, was a hostess in a dance hall. The audience follows Charity as she suffers the ups and downs of several romances. Charity meets the famous Victorio Vidal (Jimmy Coury) and spends an evening to remember with the well-known movie star. Charity decides that she wants to get away from her job as a hostess and gets involved in outside activities. She meets Oscar Lindquist when they are trapped together in an elevator. Charity and Oscar make plans to get married and live in the country. But, just when she thinks she has found happiness, Oscar leaves Charity because he is afraid of hurting her.

Administration

Planning Ahead Of Time

One of the new faces at Deer Creek Schools this year is Dr. William R. White, the new superintendent, who brings with him an optimistic vision of the future, an impressive educational background, and a sense of the importance of family. Dr. White graduated from Charles Page High School in Sand Springs and attended Oklahoma State University for twelve years, graduating with a bachelor's degree in physical education, a master's degree in physical education and administration, and a doctor's degree in school administration.

Dr. White is extremely optimistic about the Deer Creek School system. He is looking forward to the growth that is going to occur, and he admires the high expectations of the students. Dr. White also looks forward to the day when Deer Creek will offer a complete curriculum including a tele-com system which would be an opportunity to receive courses directly from Oklahoma State University. Dr. White feels "Deer Creek is truly one of the best schools in the state of Oklahoma."

This year's school board members include: Ike Burrell, Cheryl Dorrance, Boyd Barclay, Charles Kusiak, and Jim Roberts.

Team Adds New Member

Although familiar with the Deer Creek School System, Mrs. Kathy Collier, was new to the high school. The position of an assistant principal was added to the high school, and filling this position was Mrs. Collier. Mrs. Collier had previously taught English and speech at Deer Creek Middle School. Along with being assistant principal this year, she also teaches freshman English.

Junior Doughnuts: One More Fundraiser

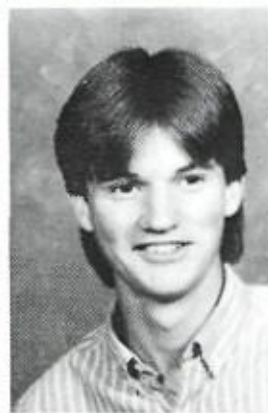

As every year, this year's junior class was faced with the task of raising money for the prom. In addition to various other fundraisers, the juniors participated in the day-to-day project of selling doughnuts. Each day, the doughnut table was swamped with hungry buyers. Some grabbed a doughnut on their way to lunch, but the more particular customers raced straight from their third hour classes in order to insure getting a fried pie or a filled pastry. Either way, the entire school helped the juniors in their quest for funds.

The Legacy Of Lockers

Like snowflakes, no two lockers at Deer Creek High School are alike. This can be attributed to the fact that each student adds his own personal flare to his locker. Posters seem to be the most popular items for covering the insides of the lockers, although some students use stickers or wall paper. However, some additions to lockers are necessities rather than purely decorations. Those unlucky individuals who are stuck sharing a locker may implore the use of extra shelves or baskets in order to hold all the extra books and papers. Even those who do not share a locker often hang small baskets in their lockers for the purpose of holding small folders and papers that have a tendency to settle to the bottom of the locker. Although most students make a futile attempt at organization, some surrender to the clutter, slam the locker door before anything falls out, and rush to their next class.

Becky Burnham has led many a cheer and coaxed many a smile from Deer Creek fans during her three years as Archie Antler. When asked why she enjoyed being Archie, Becky replied, "It gives me a way to express my naturally suppressed energy in a productive way." Of all the games she has attended as Archie the one that stands out in Becky's mind is this year's Panama game. It seems that the Panama Razorback took an extreme interest in Becky and asked her out. All games are not as wild as the Piedmont game, all are not as tense as the close Heritage Hall game, but through the boring and exciting, Becky Burnham faithfully fulfills the role of Archie Antler.

It's Time To Take The Road

Nervous about the test but excited about the prospects, sophomores anxiously anticipate their sixteenth birthday. In their minds eye, they are sitting behind the wheel of a plush car with a plusher interior, their sunglasses glistening, and their hair just right. Upcoming car dates and late night pizza runs also tantalize their imagination.

As the newly licensed driver pulls into the DCHS parking lot, sophomores, walking into the building, turn and stop to quiz the driver. The questions range from, "How hard was the test?" to "When did you get your license?" The driver absorbs the questions quickly and answers them casually.

Sure, a license is a big step, but a car is bigger. With only a license, the new driver is stuck with whatever is in the driveway.

Whether or not their prayers are answered or their dreams come true, sixteen-year-olds who become car owners or sixteen-year-olds who use the family car come face-to-face with new responsibilities: insurance and gasoline. Many acquire jobs or take on extra duties at home to help with the new expenses. The tolls seems incidental for the privilege of at last owning part of the road.

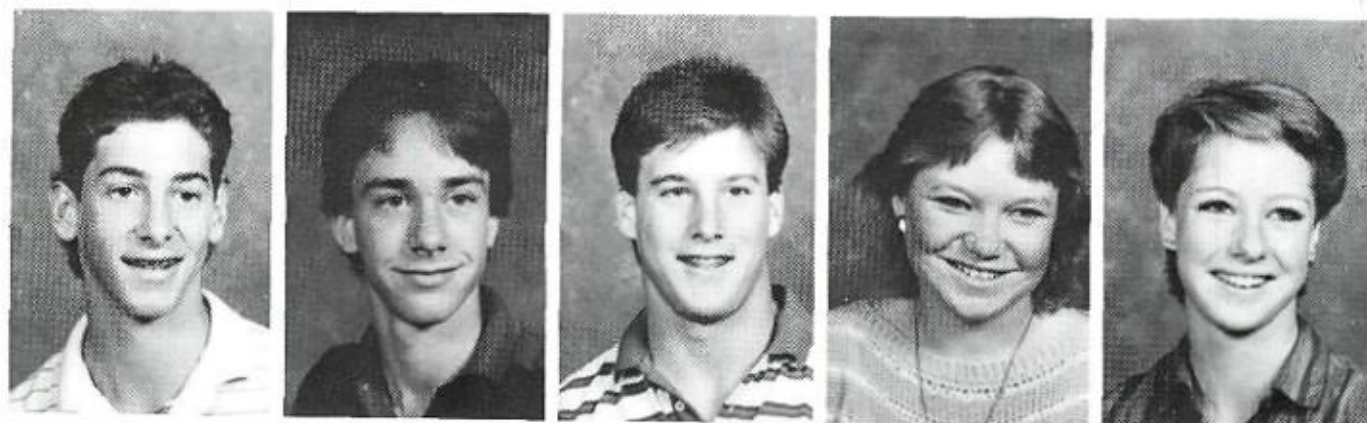

Ginny Poindexter and Jason Jacobs try to convince Mace McMonigle that north is south as Tricia Blunt ponders the complexity of the issue.

They Were The Best And The Worst Of Times

The freshman arrived at the high school with mixed feelings. Some were ready for new friends and new experiences. But others were afraid of facing older faces and a new atmosphere. The move from the middle school to the high school was a big change.

There were many new experiences for the freshman. It was their first year to be involved in high school pep assemblies or to participate in stage production. Taking a foreign language as an elective was also a new experience.

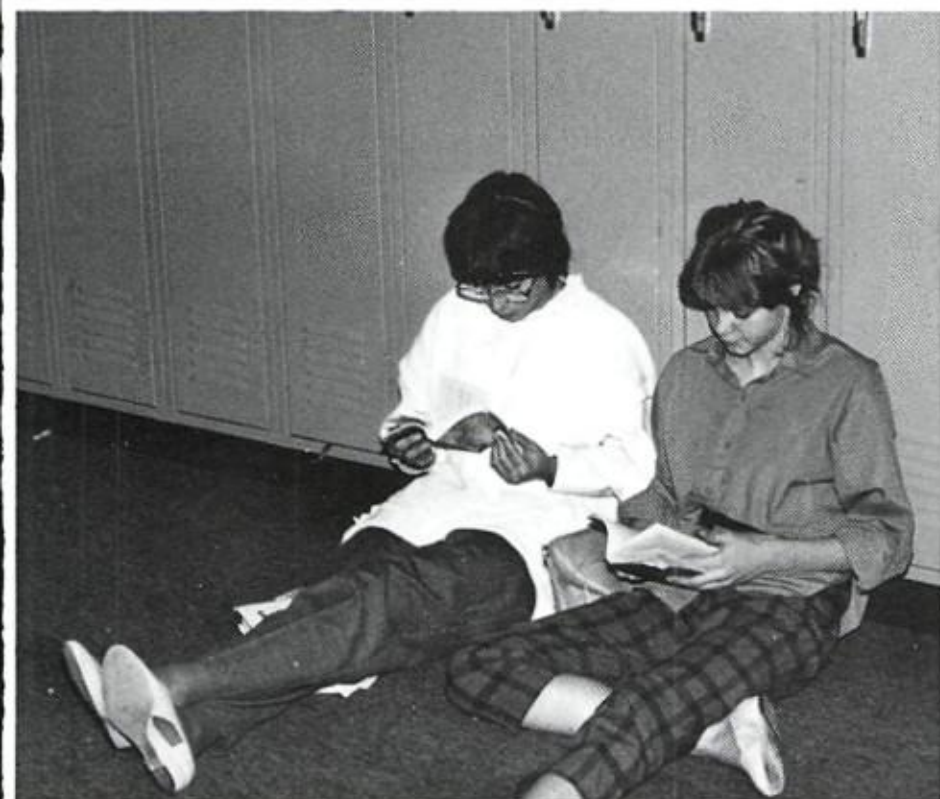

The freshman year was a new beginning. Given the opportunity to make a fresh start the class of 1989 accepted the challenge.

Stage Has Time To Shine

Sets, lights, makeup and applause make students into young actors. Discovering the potential of the students and their acting ability is the purpose of stage production. Not only do students learn how to build sets and put on makeup, but they can also develop unique characters.

This year stage produced three plays, I Love Luv, Picnic, and Alice in Wonderland. Everyone in stage put effort into creating another world. Whether students were behind the scenes or portraying a major character, working together was essential.

Slipping inside a new world affords the actors and actresses a short time in another world.

Antlers Ride With Pride

It's Time To Hear Some Spirit!

Being a cheerleader is not all fun and games, it takes hard work and determination. A cheerleader must put in long hours of practice to learn all the cheers, chants, and routines perfectly. Time is taken out of the squad's busy schedule to think of new twists to the traditional events.

This year the cheerleaders changed the annual basketball breakfast to a dinner. The cheerleaders are in charge of organizing all the pep rallies and decorating the school. All of us will remember the signs taped to the floor, especially the one shaped like Oklahoma the week of the state tournament.

The cheerleaders also held a night pep rally. The entire community was invited to attend. This rally was the revealing of the PEGS, a group of boys wanting to help promote school spirit.

Spirit Week was a big success also. During the week of the piedmont game the cheerleaders asked the student body to participate in Hat Day, Nerd Day, and Opposite Day.

Students Devote Time To Speech

The Deer Creek Speech Department maintained another successful year. Although moving up from class B to a tougher class A the competitive speech team never lost enthusiasm. The competitive speech team competes at five regional qualifying speech tournaments as well as the regionals and state speech tournaments each year. The competitive speech team is in its fourth year under the direction of Mrs. Merrie Buchanan.

The speech department not only spends time competing, but also attending plays and dramas. Plays attended by speech were Agnes of God, Chicago, 42nd Street, and Sugar Babies, with Mickey Rooney. Much time was spent raising money for entry fees for tournaments. Speech Club sponsored two booths at the carnival and sold the popular "KATT Rocks Deer Creek" sweatshirts.

The object of Speech 1 is to learn the fundamentals of public speaking. For the first time Speech 1 students were able to compete at their own tournament. Attending the OCS Speech Tournament, Speech students took second place sweepstakes.

In its second year at Deer Creek High School is the National Forensic League. In order to become a member of NFL, students must accumulate twenty-five points by either competing in speech tournaments or speaking in outside activities. President of Speech Club, Dana Bradford, spent much time organizing NFL points and getting new members. Other officers are: Kathryn Nigliazzo, Vice-president, Cindy Lubbers, secretary-treasurer, and Stacy James, public relations.

The life of a Student Council member is a busy one. Many hours are spent working on special projects. One of these projects was the annexation of "Brandenberger's Burgers" to the Deer Creek campus. Brandenberger's was open to all seniors who bought passes. The student council also sponsored a blood drive in collaboration with the Sylvan M. Goldman Blood Institute.

Not all their time was spent seriously, as they also planned the annual mini-olympics which gave the different classes a chance to "strut their stuff" and enjoy an afternoon in the sun.

Linda Brandenberger stands next to the now annexed "Berger's Burgers."

Student Council 1st row: J. Conger, L. Nigliazzo, L. Yates, G. Messick, A. Holloman, S. Lacina, L. Baker, 2nd row: R. Cowperthwaite, K. Liles, R. Barclay, T. Buck, M. Bose, C. Stegmann, 3rd row: T. Harper, A. James, C. Conger, S. Hundley, S. Burrell, P. Craig; sponsor, J. Linam; sponsor.

The "Easy" Way To Give Blood

Step 1: Sign up, preferably during your hardest class. (Joe Conger)

Every year the Student Council of Deer Creek High School sponsors a Blood drive along with the Sylvan M. Goldman Blood Institute. Any student who is at least seventeen years of age and is interested may donate blood. Giving blood may seem like a frightening experience to some, but to others it can be very rewarding. Each pint of blood later goes on to help three other people, and someday that "other" person could be you.

Step 2: Waste more time by filling out the "necessary" forms in triplicate and having your blood typed. (Keith Liles)

Step 3: More tests to worry about passing ... this time it is only a blood pressure test. (Monte Turrentine)

Step 4: Sit back and relax! (Greg Kirby)

Step 5: You are now finished, and it is time for cookies and juice. Don't you feel good? (Mary King)

Several art students painted this mural on Mrs. Jordan's wall.

The art students this year went to several contests including Young Talent of Oklahoma which is considered the toughest for high school students. Tim Lindsey and Joe Conger's pieces were among the 100 of 2,000 pieces of work chosen to hang in the museum. Tim Lindsey's acrylic painting will be published in an upcoming book of a nationally renowned artist from California. Art 3 & 4 students painted a mural that hung in the Will Rogers Airport and finished 3rd out of 15 schools.

Tim Lindsey looks over plans of his next art project.

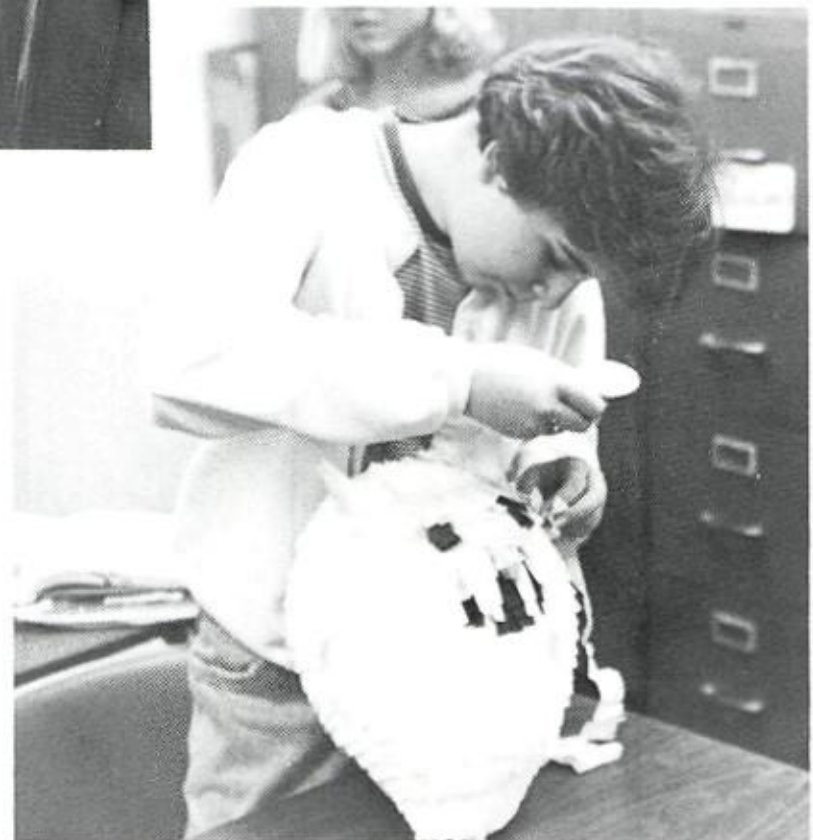

Art students also painted this mural on Mrs. Buchanan's wall.

FBLA Steps Into The Future

The theme word of Future Business Leaders of America this year was "enthusiasm." Members of FBLA became excited learning about the business community. Taking a look in, they realized the numerous possibilities that await them in the business world.

Members of FBLA were enthusiastic throughout the whole year. They became involved in many activities. FBLA raised money for their local chapter from selling candy bars to Valentine carnations. For the first time, FBLA sponsored a scholarship. They plan to give a scholarship to a qualifying senior involved in FBLA. Seniors in FBLA who went for the scholarship were judged on a point system. Students received points for attending meetings and competing in events throughout the year.

Carla Durr and Julie Lubbers

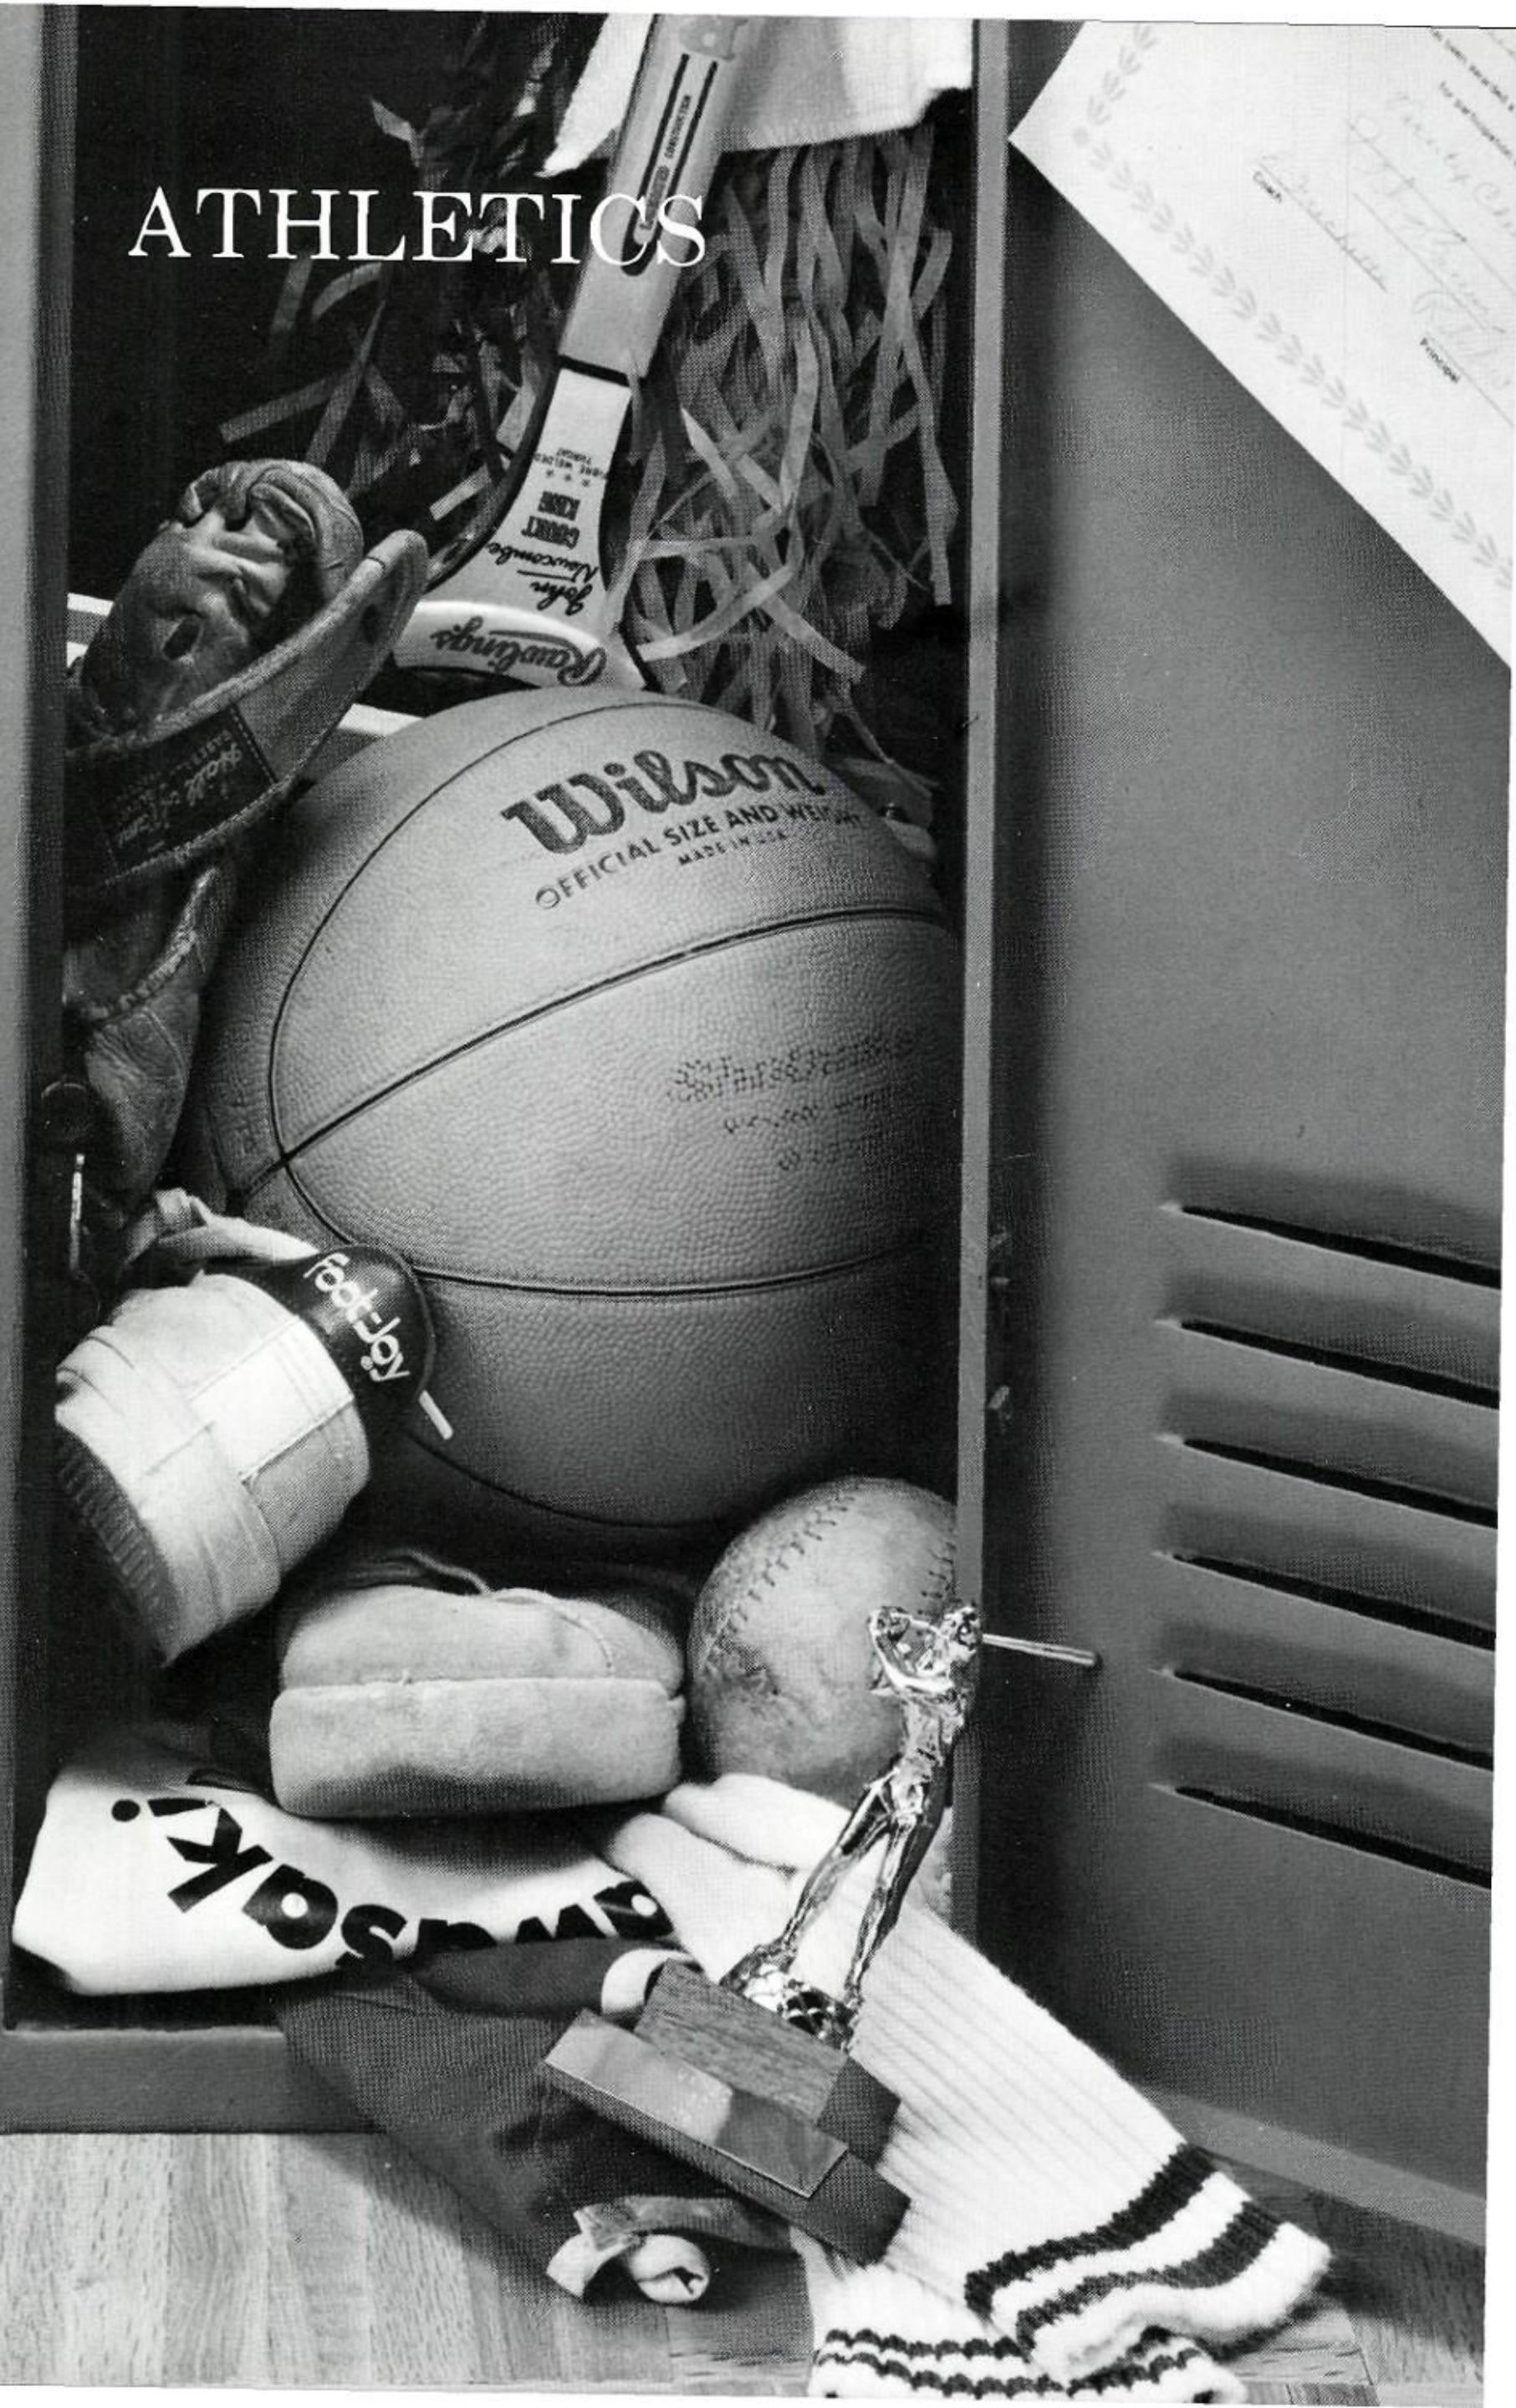

Carla Durr, Julie Lubbers, and Mrs. Williams attended the FBLA Mountain Plains Region National Fall Leadership Conference held in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Local chapters across the states of Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Texas, and Wyoming were present at the conference. At the convention, they participated in workshops and general sessions. Many long term friends and business connections were made.

In the spring, 13 members of FBLA attended the FBLA State Leadership Conference held in downtown Oklahoma City. Local chapters across the state stayed at the Skirvin Plaza and Sheraton Century and competed in various events. General sessions were held in the Myriad. Julie Lubbers placed sixth in Clerk Typist I.

Antlers Strive For Victory The Dream Continues . . .

Although the Antler's season had its ups and downs, they should be commended on their personal excellence. The Antlers lost several close games, but the most important win was the 25 to 14 win over their arch rivals, the Piedmont Wildcats. The most heartbreaking loss was to Crescent on Homecoming night. After a tough fight, the Antlers lost 7 to 0 to the Tigers. The Antlers had the ninth toughest schedule, and six of their opponents advanced to the playoffs last year. Eight of their opponents had records .500 or better.

Antlers charge onto the field in the hopes of a victory.

Underclassmen Honored

Robbie Barclay (left), a junior, has attended Deer Creek for 11 years. Robbie played linebacker for the Antlers. Giving support when necessary, he played on the Varsity team as a sophomore.

Mace McMonigle (left) was honored as a co-most valuable player. Mace is a sophomore and has attended Deer Creek for two years. Mace received the award for performance as a linebacker. Looking toward the future, Mace plans to play football.

Kevin Griffin (right) was honored as a co-most valuable player. He has attended Deer Creek for 9 years. Initially the fall '85 season Kevin was J.V. quarterback. Mid-season he became the Varsity quarterback.

Dan Caldwell, a freshman, has attended Deer Creek for six years. While on the team, he played center. During the season he continually exhibited talent and determination. His career as an Antler looks very promising.

Anglers Pace Themselves For Big Year

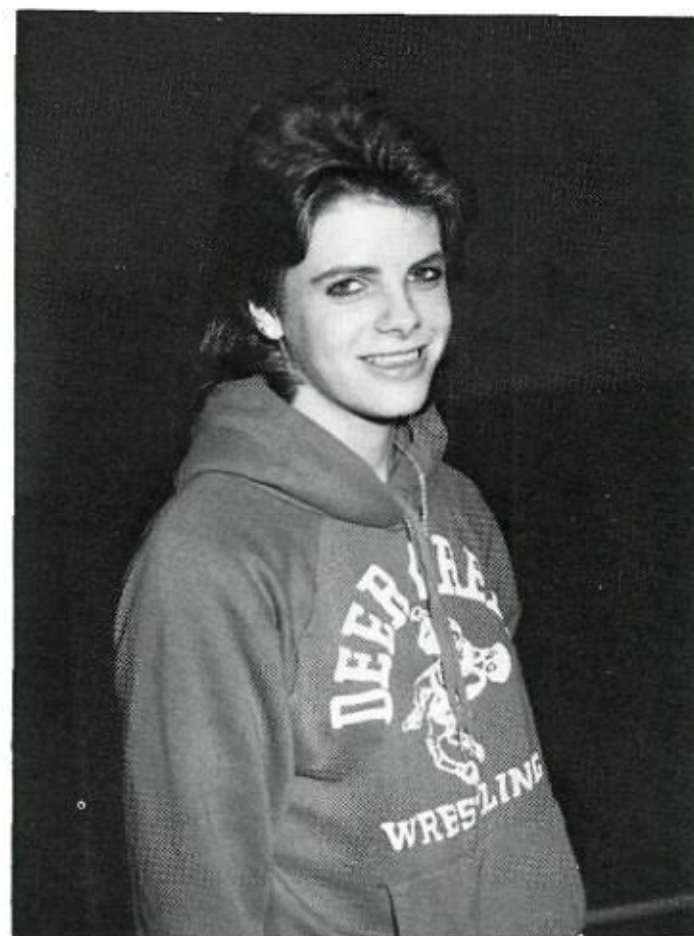

The 1985-86 Deer Creek Antler Wrestling team started the new season with a new wrestling coach. On top of the challenge of adjusting to a new coach, the Antlers wrestled larger schools than they had in previous years. Despite the odds, the Antlers finished the season 11-4 and sent two wrestlers, Rodney Jefferson and Matt McCoulogh to state.

Seniors Take That Final Step

The year has been filled with good times peppered with challenges. The seniors have enjoyed "ruling" the school and being leaders. That time has finally come for them to step down and take that big step forward into a waiting world.

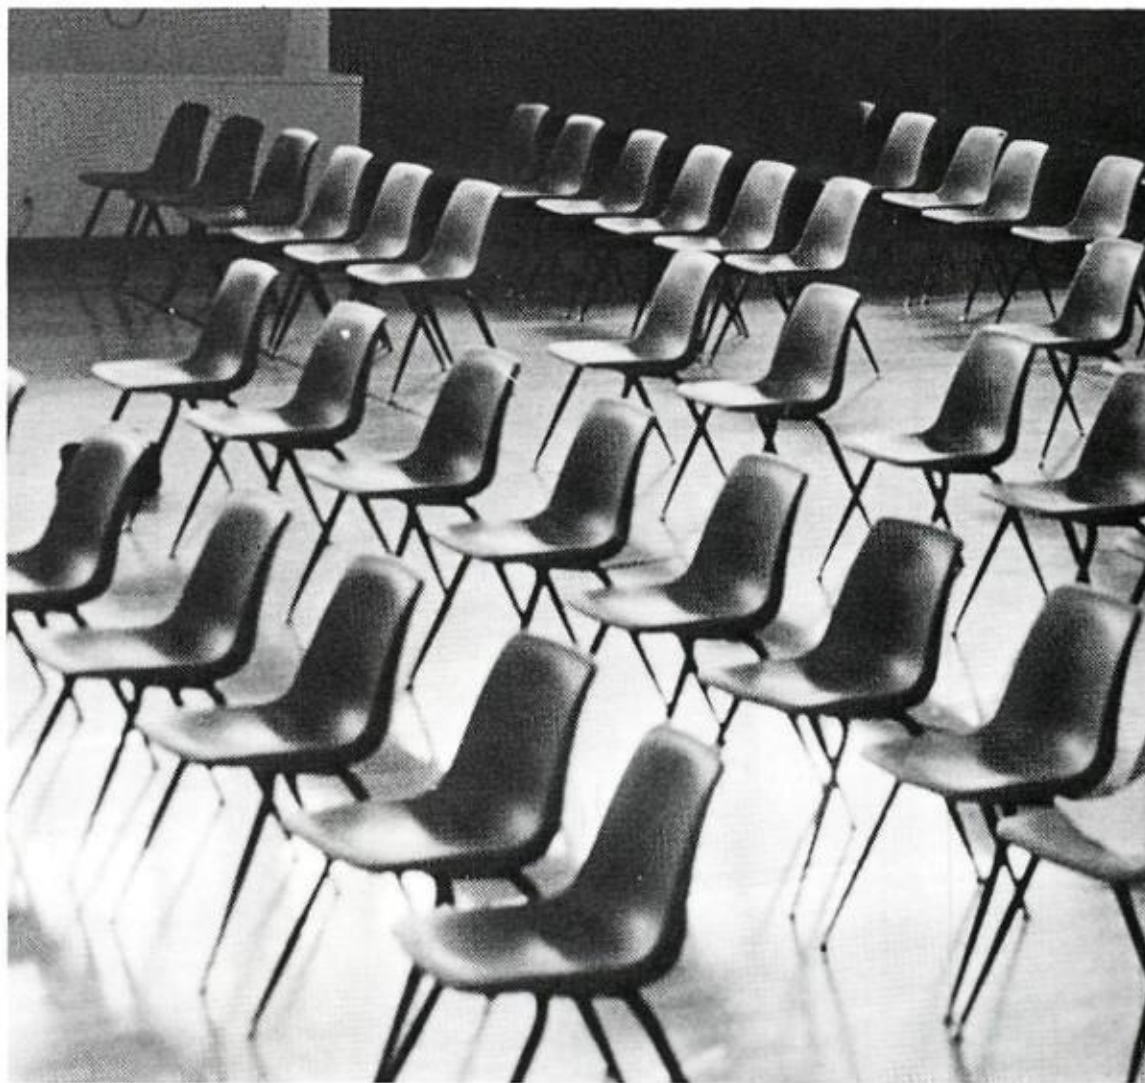

Salutatorian, Trent Sanders, presents many things from his senior class.

Exchange student, Ulla Bjerre, receives her diploma.

Dana Bradford sings "The Greatest Love of All" to her graduating class.

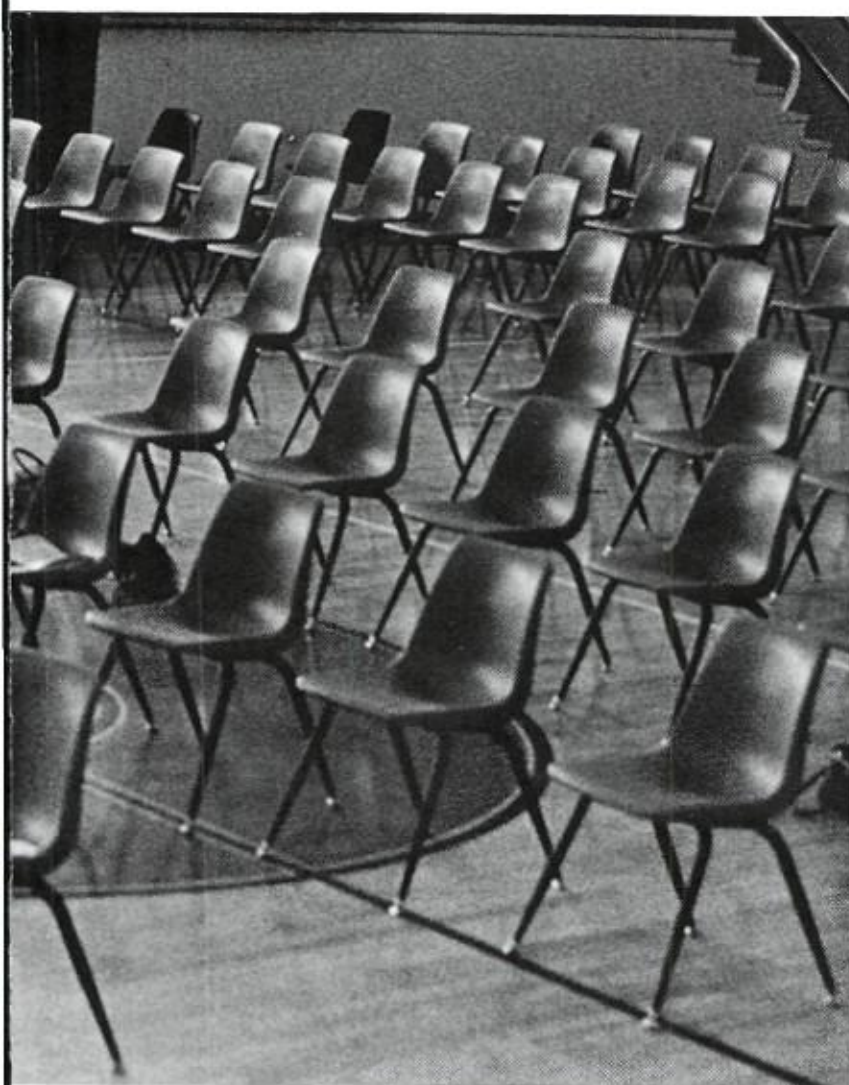

The empty chairs await the graduating class of 1986.

Co-Validictorian, Joe Conger, speaks to his classmates.

Co-Validictorian, Shawn Stacy, states his views on life to the class of '86.

Seniors sit waitingly at graduation practice.

Seniors utilize their time by signing autographs during graduation practice.

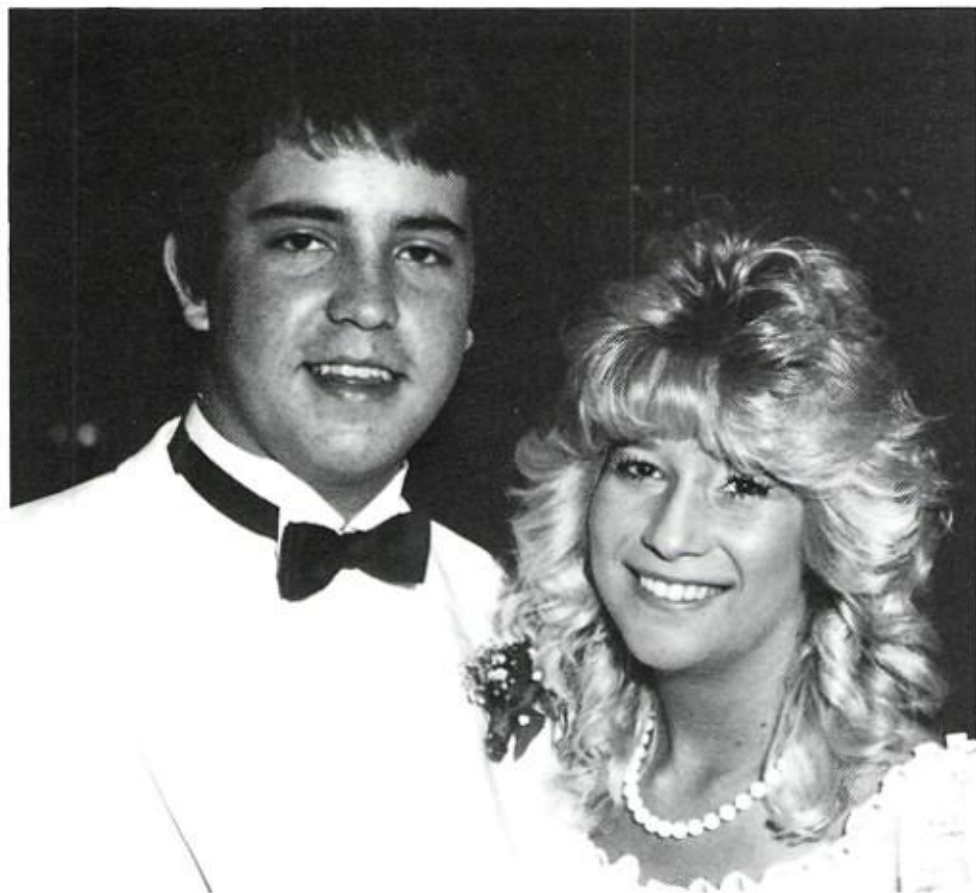

The seniors await their final walk of high school.

Seniors Enjoy Prom

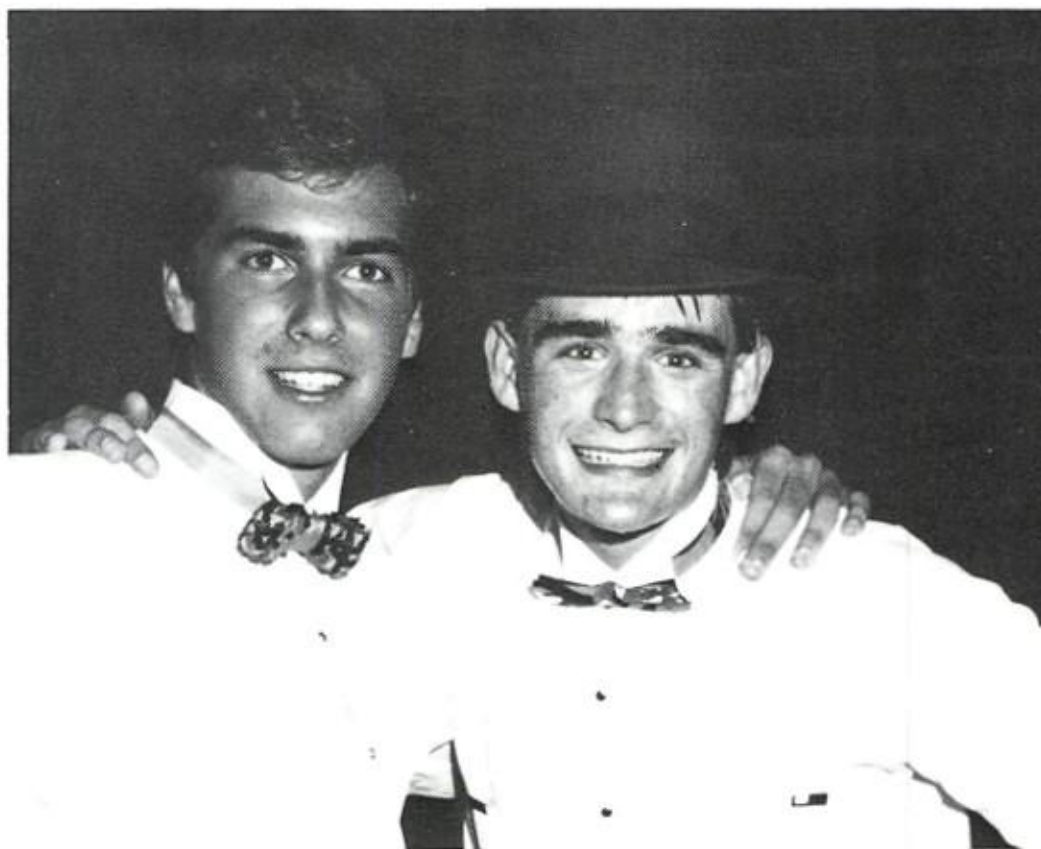

The prom this year was a lot different than last year's. It was held at Park Suite Hotel instead of Quail Creek Country Club. There was not a dinner at the prom itself, but the students seemed to enjoy the change of atmosphere. Many of the seniors will remember this night as their last time to get together with their high school buddies and get dressed up.

Dina Musgrave and her date seem to be enjoying themselves.

Luke Nigliazzo and Chad Sandvig "ham it up" at the prom.

Cheri, Jeff, Kristi, and Scott pose while "zingin" at the prom.

Senior Fiesta

The Senior Fiesta was a special event for the senior class of 1986. Allison Brown was the guest speaker. The senior mothers provided a film from early years of the graduating class. The senior class will always remember their luncheon.

Luke Nigliazzo poses for the camera at the Senior Luncheon.

Bryan Thormodsgard and Cheri Jones enjoy their lunch together.

Molly Bose and Steve Shannahan clown around before the luncheon begins.

Micheline Lavene, Christine Stegmann, and Dana Bradford pose with their pineapples.

Steve Tomlin and Robbie Haiges have fun at the Senior Fiesta.

Seniors enjoyed entertainment provided by Dana Bradford.

The Mexican buffet was made a big hit by the Seniors.
